California State University San Marcos
COLLEGE OF EDUCATION
Mission Statement
The mission of the College of Education Community is to collaboratively transform public education by preparing thoughtful educators and advancing professional practices. We are committed to diversity, educational equity, and social justice, exemplified through reflective teaching, life-long learning, innovative research, and ongoing service. Our practices demonstrate a commitment to student centered education, diversity, collaboration, professionalism, and shared governance.
(Adopted by COE Governance Community, October 1997)

Authorization to Teach English Learners: This credential program has been specifically designed to prepare teachers for the diversity of languages often encountered in California public school classrooms. The authorization to teach English learners is met through the infusion of content and experiences within the credential program, as well as additional coursework. Students successfully completing this program receive a credential with authorization to teach English learners.
(Approved by CCTC in SB 2042 Program Standards, August 02)

Students with Disabilities Requiring Reasonable Accommodations: Students are approved for services through the Disabled Student Services Office (DSS). This office is located in Craven Hall 5205, and can be contacted by phone at (760) 750-4905, or TTY (760) 750-4909. Students authorized by DSS to receive reasonable accommodations should meet with their instructor during office hours, or, in order to ensure confidentiality, in a more private setting.

Course Description
The primary aim of this course is for students to develop an understanding of the theory, methodology and assessment of English language arts and second language learning in integrated and inclusive school classrooms.

Standard Alignment
The course objectives, assignments, and assessments have been aligned with the CTC standards for Multiple Subjects Credential. Please be sure to incorporate artifacts from this class into your final comprehensive portfolio. The following standards are a primary emphasis in this course:

Standard 3-Relationship between Theory and Practice
Standard 4-Pedagogical Thought and Reflective Practice
Standard 5-Equity, Diversity, & Access to the Core Curriculum
Standard 7-Equity, Preparation to Teach Reading Language Arts

Infused Competencies
Special Education: Consistent with the intent to offer a seamless teaching credential in the College of Education, this course will demonstrate the collaborative infusion of special education competencies that reflect inclusive educational practices.
Technology:
This course infuses technology competencies to prepare our candidates to use technologies, emphasizing their use in both teaching practice and student learning.

Teacher Performance Expectation (TPE) Competencies
This course is designed to help teachers seeking the Multiple Subjects Credential to develop the skills, knowledge, and attitudes necessary to assist schools and district in implementing an effective program for all students. The successful candidate will be able to merge theory and practice in order to realize a comprehensive and extensive educational program for all students. The following TPE’s are addressed in this course:

Primary Emphasis
TPE 1a-Subject Specific Pedagogical Skills for MS Teaching
TPE 2-Monitoring Student Learning
TPE 3-Interpretation and Use of Assessments
TPE 4-Making Content Accessible
TPE 6b-Developmentally Appropriate Practices in Grades 4-8
TPE 6d-Teaching Special Education Population in General Education Environments
TPE 5-Student Engagement
TPE 7-Teaching English Learners
TPE 15-Social Justice and Equity

Secondary Emphasis
TPE 6-Developmentally Appropriate Teaching Practices
TPE 6a-Developmentally Appropriate Practices in Grades K-3
TPE 8-Learning about Students
TPE 9-Instructional Planning
TPE 10-Instructional Time
TPE 11-Social Environment
TPE 13-Professional Growth
TPE 14-Educational Technology

COURSE OBJECTIVES

KNOWLEDGE
Students will:
- gain an understanding of how a first and second language is acquired.
- gain an understanding of the reading process and its relationship to thought, language and learning.
- gain an understanding of how people learn to read and write in their first and second language.
- become familiar with current approaches to the teaching of reading and writing and the theoretical bases of such approaches.
- become familiar with current approaches to the teaching of reading and writing in culturally and linguistically diverse elementary school classrooms.
- become familiar with classroom diagnostic techniques and evaluation procedures.
- become familiar with current approaches to the teaching of reading and writing to children with special learning needs.

SKILLS
Students will:
- become sensitive observers of children's language using behaviors.
- analyze children's reading and writing behavior as a basis for making instructional decisions.
- translate the results of formal and informal assessment of children's reading and writing behaviors into instructional plans.
- develop the ability to select appropriate materials and instructional strategies to meet the individual needs of students.
• learn how to organize the classroom for teaching reading and writing to culturally and linguistically diverse populations.

ATTITUDES AND VALUES
Students will:
• develop an appreciation for the natural language abilities children possess for processing and producing print.
• develop an appreciation for the need and value of integrating reading and writing into all areas of the curriculum.
• affirm the importance of a rich environment for developing an effective language arts program.
• develop a sensitivity to and appreciation for culturally and linguistically diverse learners.
• develop a sensitivity to and appreciation for children with special learning needs.
• develop an appreciation for the importance of reading and writing for their own personal and professional growth.
• develop a respect for each student, his/her abilities and background and the student's right to instruction that meets his or her individual needs.

REQUIRED TEXTS
• Course Reader: Available at Copy Serve in San Marcos – 599-9923
Optional:

REQUIRED CHILDREN'S BOOKS (do not purchase until after the first class session):
• Fox, M. Wilfred Gordon McDonald Partridge.
• Lord, B. In the Year of the Boar and Jackie Robinson.
• Polacco, P. Thank You, Mr. Falker.
Additionally, choose one of the following:
• Bunting, E. How Many Days to America?
• Cohen, B. Molly’s Pilgrim.
• Jiménez, F. The Circuit.
• Jiménez, F. La Mariposa
• Munoz-Ryan. Esperanza Rising.
• Say, A. Grandfather’s Journey.

ASSIGNMENTS
Professional Disposition (20 points):
Students will engage in active learning each class session, and will be expected to actively participate, collaborate, and demonstrate professionalism at all times.
• Do you participate in class discussions productively, sharing your knowledge and understandings?
• Do you interact productively with your peers, taking on a variety of roles (leader, follower, etc.)?
• Do you contribute appropriately to group work—do you “do your share”?
• Are you able to accept others’ opinions? Are you supportive of others’ ideas?
• Do you support your peers during their presentations?
• Can you monitor and adjust your participation to allow for others’ ideas to be heard?
• Do you show a positive attitude and disposition towards teaching all students?
• Do you exhibit professional behavior at all times?

You will do a self assessment, using this rubric, and write a 1-2 page rationale. The instructor will also do an assessment, using this rubric. Total Score: _____
Writer’s Notebook (10 points)

For the purposes of this assignment you will keep a writer’s notebook which you will use in class to explore different types of writing. In this notebook you will write first drafts which may be shared in peer conferences. At the end of the course, you will be asked to reflect upon and write about your own writing process. How did you get started? What was it like writing the first draft? What was difficult for you? What was easy? What kinds of decisions did you have to make in the writing? Did you consider an audience when you were writing? Who was your audience? Especially respond to: What did you learn about fostering student’s writing through this experience? DO NOT BEGIN THIS ASSIGNMENT UNTIL IT IS DISCUSSED IN CLASS! The notebook and reflection are due March 10.

Reading Reflections (10 points): It is expected that everyone will have an understanding of all the readings and will come to class prepared to discuss them. Using a 5 x 8 index card, write at least 3 comments from the readings for that session. Do not summarize. Please give thoughtful reactions, responses, and reflections. If the readings are from more than one book, try to comment on more than one book. If questions arise from the readings that you would like to see discussed in class, write out your questions on the back of your card and highlight them with a colored marker. We will use these as the basis of our discussion at the beginning of some classes. I will collect them at the beginning of each session and they should show that you have done the reading. You do not have to write comment cards for the children’s literature readings. Due each class session beginning with the 2nd session with 3 free passes!

Writing Strategy Lesson Plan (Critical Assessment Task) (15 points)

You will write and present a writing strategy lesson plan for a small group or whole class activity that takes into account the needs of your students. They can be mini-lessons, direct instruction, inquiry, or any format you choose. This is also an opportunity to try a writing-in-the-content-areas lesson. Make your lesson active, interesting, fun and meaningful. See the standards for ideas. Examples of possible strategies include:

- How to choose a topic
- Expository / informational writing
- Using a piece of literature as a model for writing
- Writing paragraphs
- Developing characters
- Organizational structure for a particular kind of writing (compare/contrast, persuasion, etc.)
- Monitoring your writing to see if it makes sense
- Editing your writing
- Using transition words and phrases
- Comma usage
- Making transitions between paragraphs
- Using graphic organizers to write
- Using active verbs
- Peer response
- Writing conferences
- Word choice
- Developing plot

Keep in mind when writing your lesson: What is the purpose of your lesson? How does it relate to real writing? What are your learning goals? How are they aligned with the CA Reading/Language Arts standards (check the Reading/Language Arts framework for CA public schools)? How will you present the lesson (instructional strategies, resource materials, time frame)? How will you group students for the lesson? How will you assess your students? What accommodations will you provide for students who need additional help?

Important: Your lesson must address the needs of mainstream students, as well as make provisions for second language learners, students presenting difficulty, and accelerated students. How are you going to work with students who are having difficulty? How will you scaffold English learners’ learning during the lesson? How will your lesson provide enrichment for accelerated students? Will you meet with students individually or in a small group while other students work independently?

Bring enough copies for the cohort on the day you demonstrate your lesson.

Due on your presentation date.

RICA Analysis Study Grids (10 points)

For this assignment, you will be completing a RICA analysis sheet for each of the RICA content areas listed below. These study grids will help to support your learning/understanding of the content areas and will also help you review the content areas assessed by the RICA test. A template will be given in class.

Each RICA analysis sheet should include: (a) what this content area(s) is about (Put it in your own words – 2 to 4 sentences), (b) 2 ways of assessing this content area (include rationale); and (c) 1 way of teaching it (description and accommodations). Describe the teaching strategy and explain how it supports reading, writing and/or language arts development. I will review this information as we cover the content for this course.

Due date: Feb. 25

For the second semester you will need to complete the following content areas:

- Section 1: Conducting Ongoing Assessment of Reading Development
- Section 8: Literary Response and Analysis
- Section 9: Content-Area Literacy
- Section 10: Student Independent Reading
- Section 11: Relationships Among Reading, Writing, and Oral Language

Note: Besides the course readings, Dr. Alice Quirocho’s web site can also serve as a resource. The address is – http://www.csusm.edu/Quiocho. Click on “reading instruction portfolio.” See the section on accommodations for ideas on ways to support second language learners.

Field Observations (10 points)

For this assignment, you will be required to conduct an in-class observation of a lesson for each of the following areas related to the RICA content areas. You will need to turn in a write-up of your observations (the format will be discussed in class). Your write up should include a discussion of: 1) the grade level and type of lesson observed; 2) instructional approaches/strategies utilized by the teacher; 3) how students responded to the lesson. Since you are all at different grade levels in your placements, it may be challenging to observe lessons in all of these areas. You may have to conduct some of your observations outside of your placement classroom. It will be important to begin this assignment early on in your placement and to enlist the help of your cooperating teacher in order for you to complete all required observations.

Due date: March 1

For the second semester you will need to conduct lesson observations in the following areas:

- Literary response and analysis
- Content-area reading and/or writing
- Comprehension of expository text (in class video)
- Student independent reading
- Integration of reading, writing and oral language
- Writing instruction (Writer’s Workshop)
- Writing assessment (either observe the administration of a writing assessment or interview a teacher about how they assess their student’s writing development)
Case Study (Critical Assessment Task (25 points))

For this assignment, you will (1) learn to conduct individual assessments using multiple measures, (2) analyze assessment results taking into account your student’s strengths and areas of need, and (3) identify an appropriate and effective instructional plan. We will practice using the assessments in class before you implement them, and we will spend time in class going over the analysis and instructional plan. As you start to work on your case study, bring your questions and share your experiences in class.

Follow the steps outlined below to develop your Case Study:
Choose an intermediate level student (grades 3-6) at your school site who struggles with reading and writing. The student must be reading at least at a first grade level in order for you to successfully implement the assessments. Don’t shy away from English language learners. Ask your master teacher for help in identifying a good candidate and discuss with them possible times for giving the assessments. You will need to obtain written parental permission to work with this student (the form will be provided in class). Prepare a reading and writing case study on this student.

Important: Take notes as you work with your student. You will use this data as well as the results of your assessments in your analysis of the student’s reading and writing and in your design of an appropriate instructional plan. Include your anecdotal notes in the final appendix (for example, your student’s behavior during the activity, reactions to the activity, comments, etc.). Record all the student’s oral responses on tape. Don’t try to assess the child in only one day. If you think the student is getting tired, stop the assessment for the day and pick up another day. An important part of the assessment is developing a rapport with the student so that s/he feels comfortable enough to fully participate.

Assessment Procedures with Intermediate Level Student (grades 3-6):

1. Overview: Age, grade level, interests, ethnic and linguistic background, etc., based upon your observation of the student and information obtained from the classroom teacher. Select alternative students just in case your student should move or change schools and you need a backup. You will, however, be completing a Case Study on only one student.

2. Reading interview: Use an attitude survey (included in the Case Study packet or provided in class). Summarize the interview and include the original responses in an appendix.

3. Writing assessment: Obtain a writing sample from the student. Have him or her write about a favorite toy, book, food, sport or anything that is personal to this child or use a piece of writing that the teacher has on file. Personal writing encourages more writing. Students can draw if they want to. It is also helpful to include an unedited sample of the student’s writing that may be obtained from the student’s teacher as a point of comparison. You will want to see what stage of writing the child is in as well as the child’s ability to manipulate this abstract type of language. Look at their strengths (e.g. ability to maintain a focus) / needs (e.g. patterns of errors). Based upon your analysis of your student’s writing sample as well as the interview questions related to writing, summarize the student’s strengths and areas of need and transfer that information to the assessment grid.

4. Word list: Use the graded word lists to ascertain the level at which you will have your student begin to read the reading passage. Start at 2 to 3 grade levels below your student’s grade level placement. Use Johns (form A).

5. Text reading level: Use your student’s graded word list score to ascertain the level at which you will have your student begin to read.
6. Oral Reading: Use Johns narrative (form A) passage and Johns instructor forms to take a running record. Important: Remember to tape record the student’s reading.

7. Retelling and Reading Comprehension: Before your student reads the passage, be sure to tell him/her that you will be asking him/her to retell the story/passage. After the retelling, ask the comprehension questions as listed in the Johns IRI. Also use the criteria provided in the Johns to analyze the student’s retelling.

8. Miscue Analysis: Listen to the tape and analyze the miscues made by your student. Use the miscue analysis handout (provided in class) or Johns (p. 142) to help in your analysis. What cueing systems did your student use to make meaning? What are the strengths of your student? What patterns of errors did you notice? Use the analysis sheets in the Johns and transfer that information to the Case Study grid provided in class to record data about your student. Write your analysis in a clear manner. As you write your analysis, consider your original reading interview and observations and consider how the answers given by the student during the interview connect to the miscues. Also consider the quality of the retelling and how you think that is related to the miscues.

9. Oral Reading/Expository Passage (optional): Repeat steps 5-8 using an expository passage (Johns, Form LE)

10. Analysis: For each assessment measure, summarize what you learned about your student’s strengths (very important – what the student can already do) and needs – (what this student need to work on). Try to identify patterns that your may see across assessment results. These patterns will help you to identify an appropriate instructional plan. Use the Case Study grid to help you organize the information before writing your narrative analysis.

11. Instructional Plan/Interventions: Design an instructional plan for your student. You are the teacher. Knowing what you know about your student as a result of assessment, what areas would an appropriate instructional plan focus on? Why? Refer to the standards in the Reading/Language Arts Framework for CA Public Schools for your child’s grade level to guide you as you design the intervention plan. Provide specific instructional interventions (at least two in reading and one in writing). List at least one appropriate strategy for each identified area. Look for ideas in the course readings. For each instructional intervention, explain why you selected it and discuss how you think it will help your student). At the end of this section, you may also make specific instructional recommendations for how a teacher might work with this student in the future. You may also make recommendations for the student and parents (what might the student do on his or her own that is not dependent on the teacher)?

12. Reflection: What did you learn about assessment through this process? What did you learn about children’s reading, writing and oral language development? What did you learn about developing an instructional plan and making instructional decisions based on assessment? What would you do differently or try differently? What other scaffolds or strategies would you use? How would you use them? What other interventions would you try? What would your next steps in assessment be? Reflect on how the knowledge you have gained may be helpful to you as a beginning teacher.

13. Appendix: Be sure to include the reading and writing interviews, the Johns forms, writing samples, and any anecdotal notes in an appendix.

For your final write-up, be sure to follow the Final Project Outline below:
COE Attendance Policy

Due to the dynamic and interactive nature of courses in the College of Education, all students are expected to attend all classes and participate actively. At a minimum, students must attend more than 80% of class time, or s/he may not receive a passing grade for the course at the discretion of the instructor. Individual instructors may adopt more stringent attendance requirements. Should the student have extenuating circumstances, s/he should contact the instructor as soon as possible.

A good student is one who adheres to standards of dependability and promptness. If you miss two or more class sessions or are late (or leave early) for more than three sessions, you cannot receive an A. If you miss three or more class sessions or are late (or leave early) for more than five sessions, you cannot receive a B. Late arrivals and early departures will each count as a 1/2 absence. Please notify your instructor by email as soon as you anticipate an absence. Absences do not change assignment due dates.

Completion of Course Assignments

Readings should be completed before the class meeting listed. All assignments should be handed in on the date due unless previously arranged with the instructor. Late assignments will be penalized by a 10% deduction in points for each weekday late. After two weeks, late assignments will receive no credit. If you have extraordinary circumstances in your life which will impact your assignments, please let me know. I want you to be able to stay in school and succeed. If you have any questions or concerns, please feel free to come in and speak with me about them.
